PROFILE

As a self-taught web developer, I have honed my skills through independent study and practice. With a strong passion for web development, I have taught myself various programming languages, frameworks, and tools, including HTML, CSS, JavaScript, React. Through self-learning, I have gained a solid understanding of web development concepts, design principles, and best practices. My ability to self-motivate and learn independently has allowed me to develop a strong work ethic and adapt quickly to new technologies.
